

Affirmations for Siblings of Children with Cancer

Childhood cancer impacts siblings in unique ways. The feelings that cancer brings up may change from day to day. These affirmations are designed to validate each of these emotions and show that siblings are not alone.

Fear

There's nothing wrong with being afraid of the unknown.
It's possible to have fear and hope at the same time.

Jealousy

It is valid to be upset about getting less time and attention.
Everyone deserves to ask for what they want,
even if it's not possible to have it all right now.

Isolation

It's common to feel left out when everyone is so focused on treating the cancer.
It's ok to talk about how hard this is, even if other people are sad.

Guilt

Feeling guilty does not mean that you have done something wrong.
It is ok for both you and your sibling to need more help right now.
